

PLEASE keep the no call policy exactly as it is! We used to be "afraid" to answer our phone. It is so nice not to be badgered or made to be rude by telling this people we were not interested in there products. Our family dinners are uninterrupted, our evenings doing homework with our children are also uninterrupted. The solicitors arguments are groundless, I know where to find them if I want to hear about their products, I only wish you would extend this policy to people fundraising, as it holds true for them also, I know where to find this people when I want to donate. My home should not be invaded with unwanted phone calls. Please, do not lessen the restrictions!!
